GET CONNECTED AND GET A BETTER
RETURN ON YOUR INVESTMENT

“ With Jitterbit we’ve achieved the ability to quickly re-use our projects and on-board new users as they sign up.”

– TIFFANY ENG, PRODUCT MANAGER, NCB CAPITAL IMPACT

When it comes to financial services, it’s important to get the numbers right—fast. This can require sophisticated connections between legacy systems that hold historical performance data and new cloud-based tools that have the latest market updates. Breaking down data silos and connecting multiple apps and data sources quickly can be a significant differentiator for financial services companies.

Jitterbit helps financial services firms set themselves apart by connecting apps to reduce risk, ensure compliance, improve customer relationships, and maximize business value, as well as collect and analyze big data to deliver insight into financial opportunities and business needs. With streamlined integrations between apps and data, financial services companies can save time and money, increase accuracy, run more smoothly, provide better financial projections, and—ideally—make more money for themselves and their customers.

CUSTOMER SUCCESS

When a large financial services organization wanted to make sure its internal information matched everything it was providing to customers, it adopted Jitterbit Harmony to integrate flat files with databases and front-end systems so that employees and partners could more easily consume information. Now, the company knows all of the data it provides is up to date and accurate, without manual intervention, and can focus on making smart investments based on this data.
